Oakland Fine Arts Summer School

The City of Oakland Parks, Recreation, and Youth Development (OPRYD) partners with OUSD to provide programming as a 'summer hub'. The Oakland Fine Art Summer School (OFASS) provides a full day, four-week intensive summer program concentrating on Drama, Dance, Music and Visual Arts.

OFCY provides a grant for the program to reach 220 students during the summer.

Older Youth in Programs

Programs will serve over 5,000 youth ages 16-21 this year. To put this into perspective, there are approximately 14,285 youth 15 to 21 years of age in Oakland, according to US Census data.

Working towards the goal of helping youth transition to a productive adulthood, OFCY funds programming for older youth primarily through three strategies:

- Youth Development & Leadership
- High School & Postsecondary Student Success
- Career Awareness & Employment Support

Programs take place at school sites and throughout the community. All OUSD high schools are projected to have at least one OFCY-funded program operating on sites, and many have multiple programs.

Last year, Career Awareness programs helped over 1,000 youth gain work experience and collectively earn over $1.3 million in stipends and wages.

"In August we were invited by Congresswoman Barbara Lee who held an event that publicly opposed the hate motivated violent mass shootings that occurred in Texas and Gilroy. The congresswoman's office honored us by asking one of our youth leaders to speak on behalf of the youth in Oakland.

This event symbolizes some of our core work to effectively develop youth leaders who never imagined that they would be given agency for their voices in public spaces and allow them to shine."

"Anayeli has expressed that she feels inspired by her work with CURYJ and that her participation with us has motivated her to make healthy life choices, do better in school and work harder towards a positive vision for her future."

Opportunity Youth

OFCY prioritizes support for programs working with opportunity youth in the Career Awareness & Employment Support strategy. Opportunity youth are 16 to 21 years of age and are not in school and not employed. Half the programs and funding in the Career Awareness Strategy are funded specifically to work with opportunity youth. Programs provide comprehensive, supported work experiences for youth who face high barriers to self-sufficiency, and includes employment experience combined with academic programming and wraparound supportive services.

Over 1,000 older youth gained job experience and collectively earned over $1.3 million

Oakland City Charter requires that OFCY conduct an independent evaluation and present findings to City Council for adoption. The 2018-2019 Evaluation report is being finalized now, and will be presented to OFCY's Planning and Oversight Committee at their November meeting. It will then be presented to City Council in early December for adoption. The report will be available on OFCY's website in November. The 2018-2019 report is the third and final report of the 2016-19 three-year funding cycle.

Grant Management Corner

Reporting for the first quarter was due in October. OFCY wants to give a big thanks to programs for giving us updates on your progress and challenges as we face our own challenge in getting the Cityspan reporting system up to speed.

A special thanks goes to all the programs that are sharing your stories and pictures with us in the quarterly reports– giving us a look beyond the data and numbers into the lives of the children and youth you serve and the accomplishments made each day across the city.

Another thank you goes out to all the programs that came out to the Grant Management 101 and Evaluation Design workshops in October. There is one more Grant Management 101 meeting in November – space is still available, so register today!
